Mesa ETP Fills West Coast Sales Position

February 21, 2017

Cincinnati, OH - Mesa Engineered Tank Products (<http://www.mesaetp.com>) is pleased to announce Brandon Austin, Regional Sales Director, will assume responsibility for Mesa ETP West Coast sales. Brandon will continue to manage international distribution relationships in addition to his new domestic territory.

During his time with Mesa ETP, Brandon has played a significant role in expanding international business and discovering new distribution relationships for emerging markets. In addition to Mesa ETP's flagship External Floating Roof Drain systems, Brandon has focused on expanding business of Mesa ETP's line of emission reduction products to the new markets.

Brandon brings over 15 years of international and domestic experience in the petroleum downstream sector and has served in varied capacities including Engineering, Operations and Manufacturing as well as Sales and Business Development. Brandon is a registered professional engineer with the state of Texas, is an API-653 certified inspector and holds a Master of Science degree in Civil Engineering from Kansas State University.

In his new role, Brandon will report to David Schafer, Vice President Mesa ETP Sales. He will work closely with David and executive leadership to increase market share for the West Coast territory, and set strategic direction for continued international coverage of Mesa ETP products.
